

Coorg has always been a place where culture, history, and natural beauty blend effortlessly. It's the kind of landscape that makes you slow down without even trying.

Over the years, we've grown with one clear intention: to create a place where people feel welcomed, cared for, and connected to nature in the most genuine way. Every guest who stayed with us became part of our journey and helped shape what Copper Edge is today.

Our approach to hospitality has always been simple. Warm interactions, honest service, and attention to the little things that actually matter. That's what sets the tone from the moment a guest arrives.

Surrounded by untouched greenery and the calm rhythm of coffee plantation, Copper Edge offers a stay that feels grounded, peaceful, and deeply personal. It's the kind of escape people return to because it feels real.
