AYURVEDIC

Ayurvedic massage is a 5000 years old system of massage designed to still the mind and body lowering metabolic rates and instilling an experience of peace and calm. In this state of deep silence, the protective nervous system is disarmed so the therapies can access the deeper tissues where the body holds on to stress and emotional trauma. The massage treatments induce a transformation on the level of consciousness from a stressed state to a deep state of calm that could be carried into daily life.
