HOT STONE MASSAGE

Hot stone massage is a type of therapy that uses smooth, heated stones, usually made of basalt, to provide warmth and relax the muscles. During the treatment, the therapist places the hot stones on specific points along your body, known as acupressure points, to promote relaxation and relieve tension. Additionally, the therapist may use the stones as an extension of their hands, applying gentle pressure and gliding them along your muscles. This combination of heat and pressure helps ease muscle stiffness, improve circulation, and calm the mind
